

Dear,

The initial dataset from this study was published in 2014. Although this marked an important first step in the research process, the work was unfortunately never completed. Since the initial publication, the data has not been revised or updated due to logistical reasons. As a result, further analysis or follow-up did not take place, despite the potential of the original research.

Kind regards,

Natalie Hoedemaekers

UZ Brussel